

Two nuns with coronavirus, an archpriest in intensive care with pneumonia, but the epidemic is fake

 nashaniva.com

The St. Elisabeth Monastery in Minsk accused priest Alexander Shramko and “opposition resources” of lying in connection with a statement about mass diseases in the monastery. And he published a list of sick people:

- Priest Artemy Tonoyan is on sick leave because he has gumboil and sinusitis.
- Priest Alexander Pashkovsky has pneumonia, but the disease proceeds without complications, and therefore he is undergoing treatment while at the dacha.
- Fathers Sergius Nezhbort and Sergius Faley have the initial stage of the disease (ARVI symptoms), so its etiology has not yet been determined.
- Archpriest Vasily Lesko, 92 years old, although he is indeed in intensive care with a diagnosis of pneumonia, is not a cleric of the monastery and did not participate in the Lent and Easter services in the monastery.
- two sisters of the monastery (out of 130) have a confirmed diagnosis of COVID-19. This is nun Alexia (Yudina Elena Vladimirovna) and nun Paraskeva (Gornostaeva Svetlana Vasilievna). Both of them are in the hospital.
- Nun Maria (Lidiya Ivanovna Litvinova), who lived with the sick nun Paraskeva, was hospitalized on April 22, 2020 and is awaiting test results.
- Nun Anfisa (Adamovich Natalya Evgenievna) was ill with a high fever, was examined, is currently in her cell, her condition is stable, test results are awaited.
- Novice Zinaida (Dubanevich Zinaida Iosifovna) was sick with a high fever, was examined, and was not hospitalized.